Greetings for the new year from your co-chairs. This year offers both new challenges and a new beginning for the AMRT. The current economic situation has touched everyone. 2009 gives us an opportunity to reassess and revitalize the Roundtable. It is a time when our professional network can be even more important as we all seek inspiration and solace from colleagues as we face the future. We need our members' help as we look for ways for the AMRT to provide something useful to you. We can be a resource. What do you need? We welcome everyone's ideas, comments and elbow grease. Please contact us and volunteer. With your help we can revitalize the Roundtable.

One of the AMRT's important contributions has been our partnership with the Records Management Roundtable and the innovative work of the Joint Working Group on Diversity in Archives and Records Management. Read about the Working Group's efforts on our website.

Another service the Roundtable can provide is to offer a forum for topics not usually addressed in the formal SAA meetings. Our AMRT topic this year is "Less with Less: Today's Reality." We are all facing diminishing resources in all areas. There is only so much time in the day and we only have so much energy. Join colleagues in a discussion of practical attitudes and tools for surviving in this environment.

Come to the Archives Management Roundtable meeting on Wednesday, August 12, 2009 (time to be announced) and reconnect with your colleagues.

Our very best,

Daria and Lois

SAA 2009 CONFERENCE & ROUNDTABLE MEETING

The Archives Management Roundtable and Records Management Roundtable's Joint Task Force on Diversity in Archives and Records Management submitted a proposal for the 2009 SAA conference which was accepted. Congratulations to the entire task force which has been working hard. Titled "Strategies for Accommodating People with Physical Impairments and Disabilities in Archives," the session will discuss accessibility practices in archival repositories and records centers. Currently very little has been published on this important issue. The session is tentatively scheduled for Friday, August 14, 8:30 am - 9:30 am.

Our Roundtable meeting for 2009 will include a presentation "Less with Less: Today's Reality" by Rosemary Pleva Flynn, Librarian & Manager, Library & Information Services, Energy & Environmental Research Center, University of North Dakota and Caryn Radick, Processing

Archivist, Special Collections and University Archives, Rutgers University, NJ. The current economic situation has impacted all archives and archivists both professionally and personally. Join your colleagues as we address the practical implications of coping with diminished resources without losing spirit. How can we say no to overburdening demands, stick to our priorities and survive in today's environment? Discussion will be lively and intense. The AMRT business meeting and elections will follow.
