Questions (in case questions slow to come in)

- What was the most memorable/strangest item(s) you came across in the collection?
- What was it like to work with the general counsel's office to come to a solution? Especially in trying to balance the archival imperative to provide access with a lawyer who might argue to restrict or destroy a lot of the records.
- How do you start the conversation with subjects who may not realize they/their stuff is in an archive? Especially when it is material that may not paint them in the best light?
- Of the situations you discussed, what was the most challenging situation from an ethics standpoint? How did the SAA Code of Ethics help (or hinder) overcoming this challenge?
- Were the stolen materials kept by the archive? If so, how did you justify this? Do you include the fact that they were stolen in your description? What kind of access is being allowed, including potentially scanning and putting it online? (This may get answered in the presentation.)
