MCR has been the leader in the collections management industry in the U.S. since its founding in 1995, consulting with a broad range of private and public organizations around the country on project planning, management and execution by providing trained museum professionals on a long or short-term basis.

Our team is made up of highly skilled professionals with formal academic training in addition to practical museum, collections management, archival and curatorial experience. The staff is rigorously trained and supervised in research methodologies, the handling of objects and artifacts, and best practices.

Our focus is the highest possible standards for collections care. We work both on-site and off-site, and our clients include small, volunteer-run historic houses to major museums, private collections, historic societies, libraries, universities, multi-national science centers, galleries, corporations, as well as private collectors.

Our goals are always the same for every project: resolving chaos, completing the project on time within the budget, and providing training to the organization.
