Mission:
The University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill’s Student Chapter of the Society of American Archivists is dedicated to the professional development of its students by broadening their understanding of and exposure to issues related to the archival, museum, and cultural heritage professions. Through a series of professional speakers, topical brown bag discussions, formal and informal meetings, workshops, institutional visits, and cross-institutional event promotion, we keep our mission alive. We invite all interested students and professionals from the university community and beyond to join us in our discoveries.

2018 Highlights:
UNC SCOSAA hosted and participated in many events in 2018. These events served as professional development and networking opportunities that also promoted fellowship among North Carolina archive students and professionals alike. Some of the year’s highlights are listed below.

- SNCA-SCOSAA Mixer, January 2018
  Members of SCOSAA and the Society of North Carolina Archivists met at Steel String Brewery in Carrboro to meet one another and socialize with those in the local archives community.

- Facsimile Fiesta, January 2018
  SCOSAA co-hosted the Facsimile Fiesta with the Art and Museum Library and Information Student Society (AMLISS) and the Society for the Study of Incunabula, Manuscripts, and Rare Books (SSIMR). The event was held in the Sloane Art Library at UNC. Attendees viewed and handled facsimiles in the library’s collection. The viewing was followed by a collaborative transcription exercise initiated in an effort to transcribe early modern recipes.
- SNCA Annual Meeting, March 2018
The Society of North Carolina Archivists annual meeting was held at Duke University in Durham, NC. SCOSAA members traveled to the conference together to network and participate in discussions regarding archives within the context of North Carolina.

- SILS Archives Masters Paper Panel, April 2018
SCOSAA members and other UNC School of Information and Library Science students on the archives and records management track gathered to discuss requirements and get advice regarding the program master’s paper. Panelists included UNC SILS archives professors Helen Tibbo, Cal Lee, and Denise Anthony as well as students who had recently submitted masters papers.

- SILS Book Sale, April 2018
SCOSAA participated in the SILS Book Sale hosted by the UNC Student Chapter of the American Library Association. SCOSAA members worked in shifts to set-up and run the book sale. A portion of the profits raised from the book sale went to UNC SILS student organizations, including SCOSAA, as well as to the Prison Books Collective.
- SCOSAA Semester Kick-off and Interest Meeting, September 2018
  SCOSAA held its first meeting for the 2018-2019 academic year in September. Current SCOSAA officers and members welcomed new archives and records management students to the chapter, discussed the group’s archival interests, and introduced the tentative schedule of semester events. After the meeting, a group of members went to trivia night at Linda’s Bar and Grill, a local favorite.

- 4th Annual SCOSAA Test Kitchen, October 2018
  SCOSAA held its 4th annual archive-themed Test Kitchen. Members made a variety of dishes using recipes from the UNC Archives and brought them together for a fun potluck-style display of food history.

- National Toxicology Program Archives Tour, November 2018
  SCOSAA visited the National Toxicology Archives in Research Triangle Park, NC. Members spoke to the staff to learn about their archival workflows and received a tour of the facility, which included a close-up view of the freezers where toxicology specimens are stored.
- SILS Trivia Night, December 2018

SCOSAA co-sponsored SILS Trivia Night with other SILS student organizations. Students, friends, and family were encouraged to attend a library and information science-themed trivia night at a local restaurant. 100% of the funds raised through this ticketed event benefited the San Juan Children’s Choir Library via the ALA Adopt-A-Library Program. The library sustained significant damage in Puerto Rico, and funds were specifically raised for a new air conditioning unit and humidifier for the institution.
